SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH PROJECTS COMPLETED

2000-2004 International Migrations and Human Rights, for the Institute Of Juridical Studies of the National University of Mexico

1990- 2000 Zapata Canyon Project. El Colegio de la Frontera Norte

1976 – 1982: U.S.- Mexico border survey on migratory flows from Mexico to the United States. Sponsored by the Mexican Ministry of Labor.

1990 - 1995: Quantitative observations at Zapata Canyon. The Use of Photographic Techniques. Sponsored by The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation.

1988: National identity in Mexico's northern border region: conceptualization and measurement of national identity by sectors of the population in seven border cities, with a comparison with cities in the interior of México, based on systematic random samples of cities's populations. Sponsored by El Colegio de la Frontera Norte.

The internationalization of local border public administration. Analysis of the international relations between municipal and state governments on both sides of the U.S.-México border, based on a comparison of their legal structures. Sponsored by El Colegio de la Frontera Norte.

The process of economic integration of Mexico-U.S. border cities. An historical perspective. Sponsored by El Colegio de la Frontera Norte.

1978- 1979: International Migration of Mexican Workers. This research project was the most ambitious and comprehensive scientific study ever conducted in Mexico on the migration of Mexican workers to the United States. The research designed was based on a systematic random sample of Mexican migrants' flows through the U.S.-Mexico border. Its findings represented the first time that a scientifically based estimate was made of the volume of undocumented immigration to the United States. This study was funded by the Ministry of Labor of Mexico.

1982: National Identity of Mexican Border Populations. An initial survey was conducted in 1982 in several Mexican border cities. Then, it was replicated in cities of the interior of Mexico (south of the border), for comparative purposes. Results on national identity were correlated with the socioeconomic characteristics of the respondents. The initial survey was then replicated in 1984 and 1985. In both instances, findings of the initial survey were confirmed. The results of this study were published in Uso del idioma e identidad nacional as well as in numerous scientific journal articles.

1982: Political Attitudes and Referents among the Populations of Seven Border Cities in Northern México. Interviews were conducted in June 1982 with a random sample of 2600 individuals. Preliminary findings were published under the title Actitudes Políticas de los Fronterizos.

1980: Investigation to determine empirically the feasibility of the creation of a Center for Border Studies. Personal interviews were conducted with social and political leaders of thirteen cities of northern México. This research involved personal interviews and library research. Based on its findings the city of Tijuana was recommended for the Foundation of El Colegio de la Frontera Norte.

1979: Statistical analysis of U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service data on apprehensions of undocumented immigration. In collaboration with Roberto Ham Chande of El Colegio de México. Results were published in the scientific journal Demografía y Economía of El Colegio de México.

1977 - 1981: Library research on undocumented migration in the debates of the United States Congress. This was the initial study that preceded the Programa de Investigación de la Encuesta Nacional de Emigración de la Frontera Norte del País a los Estados Unidos. Sponsored by the Ministry of Labor in Mexico.

1976: Research on U.S. congressional records on the history of Mexican migration in congressional debates between 1915 and 1976. Archival research at the Library of Congress.

1975 - 1976: Personal interviews with randomly selected maquiladora industry workers in various cities along the U.S.-Mexico border, Sponsored by El Colegio de Mexico.

1975 - 1976: Personal interviews with undocumented immigrants detained at INS facilities in Los Angeles, El Paso and Port Isabel, Texas, based on a random selection of individuals. Directed by Julian Samora of the University of Notre Dame.

1973 - 1974: Surveys of the migratory status of families, based on a random selection of households in various cities of southeast Texas (Lower Rio Grande Valley). Directed by Prof. Julian Samora of the University of Notre Dame.

1969- 1971: Participant-observation research, posing as an undocumented immigrant, joining work crews working in various crops (picking citrus, onion, peppers and cotton) in the U.S.-Mexico borders cities of MacAllen, Mission, Elsa, Phar, Edinburg, Harlingen of southeast Texas.

1969: In-depth interviews with 200 household heads in East Chicago. Sponsored by the Ford Foundation and the University of Notre Dame. Directed by Prof. Julian Samora.

1969 -1970: Survey on Mexican Undocumented Immigrants in the States of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan (Personal Interviews with 1100 undocumented immigrants). Sponsored by the Ford Foundation and the University of Notre Dame. Directed by Dr. Julian Samora.

1969 - 1970: Fieldwork at INS detention centers along the U.S.-México border, under the direction of Dr. Julián Samora, Notre Dame University.

1968- 1970: Survey on 1200 Mexican Undocumented Immigrants in 3 INS detention centers at the U.S.–Mexico border.

1968 -1969: Migrants' Life History Project. Sponsored by the Ford Foundation and the University of Notre Dame.
